

post thumbnail type unknown

The Young IPA Podcast – Episode 92 with Dr Bella d’Abrera and Anis Rezae

Publish Date:

January 2019

---

We’re back for 2019 and we’re now on Tuesdays! Pete and James talk about the IPA’s new report Australian History’s Last Stand: An Audit of Australian History Teaching at Universities and recap the big news stories over the break, including the US government shutdown, Brexit and the protests in France. We talk to Dr Bella d’Abrera about her new report Australian History’s Last Stand and what the findings are and why James and Pete are now scared of her after her holiday (17:35-27:51). We also talk to Anis Rezae on her last day of interning at the IPA as part of the Mannkal Economic Education Foundation program about what it was like working at the IPA (27:59-36:35).