

Climate Change: The Facts 2017 now on sale

Publish Date:

August 2017

We are pleased to announce that we have entered into an arrangement with our good friends at Connor Court Publishing, which will henceforth produce all print copies of Climate Change: The Facts 2017.

In exciting news Connor Court will also be commissioning print runs in the UK and the US, and is also making arrangements for sales through bookshops in Australia and internationally.

Click here to purchase:

Climate Change: The Facts 2017 is also available on iTunes and through Amazon (details and links below)

Edited by Dr Jennifer Marohasy, Senior Fellow at the IPA, Climate Change: The Facts 2017 brings together contributions on the latest climate science from some of the world's leading experts in the field including John Abbot, Sallie Baliunas, Paul Driessen, Tony Heller, Craig Idso, Clive James, Pat Michaels, Jo Nova, Ian Plimer, Tom Quirk, Peter Ridd, Ken Ring, Nicola Scafetta, Willie Soon, Roy Spencer, and Anthony Watts.

There are also essays by Matt Ridley, and Bjørn Lomborg on the economics of climate change, and by Simon Breheny on how the freedom to discuss climate change science is under threat.

This book is dedicated to the memory of Bob Carter.

The Editor's Introduction and Table of Contents can be viewed here.

A chapter by chapter review by Rafe Champion can be found here.

Please note the book contains full colour charts and images which may be difficult to interpret on an Amazon Kindle device (the Kindle App on tablet or computer will display the book in full colour).

Click either of the icons to purchase in e-book format:

amazonkindle