

Image not found or type unknown

Submission: Review Of The National Curriculum

Publish Date:

March 2014

---

A significant focus of the Foundations of Western Civilisation Program is in education, ensuring that the next generation is capable of learning and understanding our past and heritage in the most academic and informative ways possible. In our submission to the Department of Education's review of the National Curriculum, the IPA stressed the negative impact which the national curriculum posed to these goals.

You can access our submission to the department here.